Regional Training Seminars

We are currently developing training seminars for beginners and advanced web site systems. Current members will be able to attend at substantial discounts.

On-site Training

Customized training can be conducted at a location of your choice. On-site training requires access to an Internet-connected computer lab with enough workstations for your attendees. Additional travel and material fees may apply.

You may want to consider incorporating comprehensive web training with your staff in-service days. Please contact Customer Service if you would like to explore on-site training opportunities.
